VADE MECUM

1968-1969

Alma Mater

by HAMLIN E. COGSWELL

*To our noble Alma Mater's name
We, her children, sing a joyful lay,
And to her a new allegiance pledge,
That lives beyond a day.*

*A prayer for her who sheltered us,
A hope no child her name will stain,
A cheer thrice given with a hearty voice
And now a sweet refrain.*

*Of loyalty are symbols twain,
Her colors, crimson and the gray,
"Dear Indiana Mother Fair,"
The burden of our lay.*

(Refrain)

*Sing, O sing, Our Alma Mater's praise,
Hail, O hail! her colors' gleaming hue!
Give to her our homage and our love
And to her name be true.*

University colors – Maroon and Slate

University symbol – Indian

Cover photograph depicts John Sutton Hall, the oldest building on the Indiana campus. Built in 1875, it initially served as a self-contained Normal School. The structure is now functioning as a women's dormitory, and is considered by many to be the University's finest link with its past.

Forword

by JAY BONSTINGL, Editor

For several years the University has published a Freshman Information Booklet and a Student Handbook in two separate volumes. This year, both of these books have been combined into one, the Vade Mecum.

The title for this book (pronounced: vā' di - mē'kem) comes from the Latin, meaning "something which a person carries about because of its usefulness: a book for ready reference." All of which, the staff feels, sums up very well the intended character of the Vade Mecum.

Aside from the new title, you will notice other major changes in the content and format from the Vade Mecum's predecessors. This is the first time that color photography has been used in the publication. More pictures of the campus, and of student leaders, faculty, and administration have been incorporated into the text than ever before.

The Vade Mecum was written with the student reader in mind. Unlike its two forerunners, this volume includes interesting and well-written articles about the University and major campus organizations you may want to become a part of. A brief history of IUP, from Normal School to the present, has been written for this edition by the Director of Public Relations, Mr. Samuel Furguiele. A color photograph and tribute to Dr. Willis Pratt has been added to the text as a testimonial to our University President who recently announced his retirement from that position. A new section on the town and county of Indiana has also been included.

Interesting and highly readable content was the by-word of the staff in writing this first edition of the Vade Mecum. However, the student should not overlook its value as a handy reference guide. Frequently-used phone numbers and extensions are listed on the back cover. Sororities and fraternities are listed (in Greek letters) with their current presidents, advisors, addresses, and phone numbers. Specific information is also given concerning departmental and special interest groups, university services, and student governing groups. Also listed are schedules for intercollegiate sporting events, the Artist Lecture Series, and the academic calendar for 1968-69.

The staff of the Vade Mecum hopes that you find this edition an interesting and helpful source of information about your University. We wish you the very best of luck and happiness in the academic year ahead!

DR. WILLIS E. PRATT
President

Welcome To Students

May I extend to the returning students most cordial greetings on your return to your campus home. To the new students, may I also extend a very warm welcome to Indiana. I trust that this will be a satisfying and exciting experience for all of you. The Indiana University of Pennsylvania is an expanding institution of higher learning which has promise of becoming a university of great import to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

At the present time we have under construction seven new buildings, — three new men's dormitories, a research and learning center, a health services building, a military hall and a maintenance building. A new privately-owned apartment-type dormitory for women will be open for use for the first time this fall. Many of the other buildings will be completed during the current academic year.

The expansion of the campus in both its physical facilities and its curricular offerings has been almost phenomenal during the past few years. The growth of this institution has been the result of many factors, — the growth of the physical plant, the very able faculty and most of all, the calibre of the student body which comprises Indiana. For the most part, our students are fine young men and women with excellent academic records which they bring from their high schools and which they have attained in their previous academic experience. Even more important is the character of the young men and women who attend this institution.

We have been most fortunate in having excellent student leadership at Indiana for many years. The philosophy of the administration which enlists the cooperation and the active involvement of students in university life has provided rich benefits to the administration, faculty and students of this university.

Indiana has an individuality of its own; it is an institution of higher learning which enjoys the reputation for high academic standards, beautiful surroundings and high ideals.

To our new students I trust you may be proud, as I am sure you will be, to be a part of Indiana. To our former students, I wish to express my sincere appreciation for your excellent cooperation in the past and trust that we might warrant the continuation of the same student interest in the future. We all wish for you a very happy and profitable year during 1968-69.

Sincerely yours,

President of the University

Willis E. Pratt — A Tribute

By MADALYN ROSS

(from The Penn, May 10, 1968.)

"This World War veteran in his early forties was named Thursday, April 22, by the . . . board of trustees to succeed the late Dr. Joseph Uhler. The salary of the new president will be $8,000 with maintenance — the same arrangement under which Dr. Uhler served prior to his unexpected death . . ."

The headline for The Penn, 1948 read: "Dr. Pratt Takes Over July 1" and the article opened with the above paragraph.

It is fitting that Indiana be introduced to Dr. Pratt through a newspaper report since his life in education can be aptly compared with such an article — concise, informative, enlightening. Complete in itself, it bears its own headline, lead, body of information and a closing which is sufficient until further news is available.

The Headline — Dr. Pratt Takes Over July 1, 1948. Giving only a clue to what is to follow, the headline indicates an interim of 20 years — years filled to capacity with advancement and improvement as the body will disclose.

The Lead — Willis Everett Pratt was born in Pittsburgh in 1906 and there received his elementary and secondary school education. He received his B.A. degree in English and social studies from Allegheny College in 1927; in 1932 he obtained his M.A. at the University of Pittsburgh and his PH.D. in 1940.

He has been a student at Harvard, Boston University and Carnegie Institute of Technology. He received Dr. of Teaching Arts at Bologna University in Italy; L.L.D. (honorary), Westminster College.

His next years were spent in the education of others as he served as president of State Teachers College and head of the department of education at Penn State College and as a public school teacher, principal, county superintendent and administrator.

Dr. Pratt served as a major in the Army during World War II and was awarded the Bronze Star and received the Medal of Knight Officer Crown of Italy for work in democratizing Italian schools.

Co-author of two educational guides he also contributes to numerous books and magazines.

In 1948, he became successor to Dr. Uhler as president of Indiana State College.

As the lead flows into the second paragraph, the body of the article discloses all the facts.

Body of Information – During Dr. Pratt's administration, Indiana University of Pennsylvania has emerged from a small-town state teacher's college to a full-scale university with 2 off-campus centers. It has increased from a student body of 1455 in September 1948 to over 7000 full time undergraduate students in 1967-68.

The physical structure has also undergone a metamorphosis: Whitmyre, Cogswell, Wahr, Langham, Walsh, Stabley Library, Memorial Field House, Ackerman, Foster, Weyandt, the tri-dorms, Gordon, Uhler, Elkin, and the present Student Union have all become part of the campus during Dr. Pratt's presidency.

An expansion program, already underway, will include a research and learning center, three 8-story dormitories for men, a military hall, a maintenance building and a health center.

Perhaps the most obvious achievement occurred on December 8, 1965 when the Pennsylvania State Legislature passed House Bill 1023 which made this institution, Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Pratt was host to many dignitaries and personalities on the Indiana campus. Among them were: Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Earl Clement Atlee, Justice William O. Douglas, Dr. Carlos Romulo, Dr. Ralph Bunche, Dr. Linus Pauling, Dr. Archibald McLeish, David L. Lawrence, William Scranton and Agnes Sligh Turnbull.

After all the information has been briefly (though not completely) set down, the "closing" completes the article.

Closing – In the 1948 Penn, the editorial page read: ". . . one thing that we can assure him (Dr. Pratt) is that we'll all work like mad for something good . . ." The date is, as you know, July 1, 1948.

From then on the maxim, "the proof of the pudding is in the eating," is applicable, and Indiana's students are notorious for their appetites. It is apparent in 1968 that the students have "worked like mad" and have "tasted" the proof of the pudding."

As in an article, the closing can only be temporary, for news is pertinent only for the minute. The "Educational Life" of Dr. Pratt will merit many articles in the name of Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

The Student Government Association

by RON LUNARDINI, President

The Student Government Association is an organization composed of student leaders from various areas of the University who are willing to devote their time and efforts toward improving the communications among the students, faculty, administration and community. The members of the Student Government are chosen in a University-wide election which is preceded by a vigorous week of campaigning each semester. The president and vice-president are selected in the election held in December and serve for a calendar year, while the remaining officers are chosen by the Congress from its own membership and serve a term of one semester each. Any student may strive for a representative seat or an office, and instructions for doing so are published by the Congress in the daily bulletin prior to each election. Also, the Student Government meetings, which convene every Tuesday evening at 7:30 in Room B of the Student Union, are open to any member of the student body, and thirty minutes at the close of each meeting are reserved for questions or discussion from any non-members.

Activities of the Student Government Association and its members vary from group functions to member representation on administrative and faculty committees. The results of these activities are illustrated by a highly successful blood drive for the Red Cross, an annual faculty evaluation, and a revision and liberalization of social regulations.

The Congress also sponsored "Choice '68", the National Collegiate Presidential Primary, conducted elections for both Homecoming and Swing Out as well as class officers and their own membership, and provided a student majority on the finance committee which is responsible for allocating all student funds. In the coming year, students will hold observing seats on five University Senate committees as well as a fifty per cent membership of the Student Affairs and Athletic Policy Committee which handles all matters of student concern.

In the interest of the entire student body, the Student Government Association has extended itself to numerous areas in the structure of the University, informing the students of the activities encountered in each. A student public relations bureau and a weekly radio broadcast over our local station WDAD have been initiated to improve the process of informing the students of the actions of Congress, which has previously been conducted only through the Penn, the University newspaper.

The Congress is looking forward to a productive year with both new and old activities planned, and you as a student, owe it to yourself to direct your individual power to support and follow the Student Government Association through the coming year of increasing student responsibility.

The Student Union Board

by FRED H. GELSTON,
Executive Chairman

Indiana University of Pennsylvania is one of the largest state-supported institutions of higher learning in the Commonwealth. As such, it is expected to produce an atmosphere of study and learning comparable to universities and colleges across the nation many times its size. It does this through the combined efforts of the administration, the excellent faculty, and a strange student organization which is sometimes accused of looking at the world through a rose-colored periscope. This organization is called the SUB, or more eloquently, the Student Union Board. The SUB has its offices on the second floor of the Student Union Building, at the northeastern corner of the campus.

Indiana students may groove at the dances and jammies on Friday and Saturday nights at the Union; attend lectures by interesting people including professionals, fellow students, and faculty members; have coffee in a Coffee Shop adorned with the latest in art work; or study for finals in one of the air-conditioned study rooms, all without realizing that there is a hard-working crew of students behind it all. The Student Union Board is the link between the classroom and the mind. It is this organization which helps the student to round out his education by providing the opportunity for a free exchange of ideas; yet what the student may overlook is a working knowledge of the organization itself.

Not too many people realize when they see the great six-foot-three frame of Bob Martin striding across campus that as head of the Social Committee he handles a budget of over $9,000 and to a large extent plans most of the dances, folk concerts, and jazz sessions.

Who would suspect pretty Kathy Davis of being minister of propaganda for the SUB? As head of the Publicity Committee, she keeps you informed of the fantastic happenings at the big U.

Lisa Cabassa gets the speakers as chairman of the Speakers Committee, and Hospitality chairman Marilyn Green provides the refreshments as students participate in intellectual involvement in its truest sense.

Twice a semester the SUB sponsors a Pops Concert with real, live, big name entertainment. Groups who have appeared at IUP in the past include The Lettermen, Peter, Paul and Mary, The Four Seasons, Dionne Warwick, and the Christy Minstrels. Our very own Psychedelic Moustache, better known as Kevin McDermott, will provide the sounds to make this year even groovier than last year. Second in command, and a girl who makes every minute count like an hour, is Georgene Rado, the secretary-treasurer.

If you like to build bridges of friendship around the card tables, or battle wits over a hot chessboard, or spelunk in a cave, Rick Hugus is the man to see. He's the chairman of the SUB Recreation Committee.

Each student organization has as advisor at least one member of the "You-Can't-Trust-'Em-Cause-They're-Over-Thirty" set. We have two: Messrs. Christopher Knowlton and Aaron Leventhal have placed their steady hands of guidance upon our shoulders as we sail onward, holding the banner of the SUB ever higher with each successive year!

If you feel that you would like to un-muddy the waters around you and have oceans of fun, come aboard the SUB! Applications can be made to me, Fred Gelston. Look underwater in the Yellow Pages. (Or stop in the SUB office next time you're around the Union.)

CHRISTOPHER KNOWLTON
Union Director

The Student Union at IUP

AARON LEVENTHAL
Program Director

The Indiana Student Union is designed as a community center for the entire University family — students, faculty, friends, and alumni. In addition to the active program of activities sponsored by the Student Union Board and other organizations, facilities are provided in the Student Union for many student services. Students may gather informally in one of the lounges, buy a snack or a complete meal at the coffee shop, listen to their choice of records in the music center, play billiards or table tennis in the game room or watch color television.

In the University book store, located in the Student Union, you may purchase textbooks and school supplies, browse through the large collection of paperback books, select your choice of fine recordings, or purchase sportswear, gift items, snack foods, and men's and women's personal care items.

At the service desk, you may make reservations for organization meetings, purchase tickets for campus events and trips, and borrow fine reproductions of famous art to hang in your room. The offices of the Student Cooperative Association, the Student Bank, the Penn, the Oak, the Student Government, and the Student Union Board, are located in the Student Union.

The original section of the present Student Union was completed in 1960. Since then two additions have been completed to offer expanded facilities to our rapidly growing student body and faculty. Funds for the construction and maintenance of the Student Union are provided from the student activity fee. Further expansion of Union facilities is in the discussion and the planning stage.

You are cordially invited to make full use of your Student Union and to make comments to the Union director or Program Director about ways in which you feel the Union services could be amplified or improved.

A Brief History of Indiana University of Pennsylvania

by SAMUEL F. FURGIUELE,
Director of Public Relations

From a humble beginning Indiana University of Pennsylvania has become a very important institution of higher learning which serves the need of a large number of Pennsylvania citizens. With a student body of only 225 in its first year, Indiana this year has an undergraduate enrollment of 7400 full-time and 500 part-time students.

Indiana University of Pennsylvania grew out of a need for a teacher-training institution in Pennsylvania in 1871 when the Pennsylvania General Assembly passed an act granting aid for the establishment of a Normal School in the Ninth Pennsylvania District.

Since the first building was opened for students in 1875, the University has graduated over 22,000 students; and since becoming a degree conferring institution in 1927, it has granted over 12,000 degrees.

Ownership and control of the institution passed to the Commonwealth in 1920. A few years later, in 1927, the General Assembly approved a change in the name and function of the school. As the State Teachers College at Indiana, it became a four-year college with the right to grant the Bachelor of Science degree in Education.

In 1957 the college was authorized to offer, for the first time, work leading to the Master of Education degree in elementary education. The program was later expanded to include thirteen secondary areas as well. This program, which began with an enrollment of 74 in September, 1957, has graduated a total of 672 through January 1966, and currently enrolls a total of about 3,000 students, with approximately 700 of these students enrolled in courses during the current academic term.

In 1959 the name of the college was changed to Indiana State College. This set the stage for a liberal arts program which graduated its first students on January 12, 1964. This program, which began with 72 students in September, 1962, now enrolls over 800 students in the areas of the Social Sciences, the Humanities, and the Natural Sciences.

In September, 1962, Indiana established its first off-campus center at Punxsutawney, Pennsylvania. In September, 1963, a second center, to serve the general area of Armstrong County, was established at Kittanning, Pennsylvania. During the current academic term approximately 150 students are enrolled at the Punxsutawney Center and 300 at the Armstrong County Center.

In December, 1965, Indiana was redesignated the Indiana University of Pennsylvania with right to expand its curricular offerings and to grant degrees at the doctoral level, as well as in several additional areas at the master's level.

Indiana has pioneered in educational television, regularly offering courses over WQED, Pittsburgh's educational television station, as well as over other area stations.

In 1950, an Army Reserve Officer Training Corps was established at Indiana. Since that time over 500 graduates have been commissioned second lieutenants in the army, approximately 100 of whom are currently serving as officers in the Regular Army of the United States. The Cadet Corps at Indiana, which consisted of 208 students in 1950, now numbers over 1100.

Through the years, the physical plant of the university has increased from an original single building to a campus of about 175 acres (including approximately 100 acres encompassing the University Lodge) in the center of the community of Indiana with more than 25 major buildings, 20 other buildings, and a major athletic field development which provides adequately for the recreational and physical activities of about 6,000 students.

Recently completed were a large dining hall, a field house, and a new science complex. Under construction are a learning-research center, a men's dormitory complex, a new Military Hall and a health center. The over-all plan is for the campus to be expanded to over 200 acres, accommodating approximately 8900 full-time undergraduate students by 1970.

University Services

STUDENT COOPERATIVE ASSOCIATION — The Student Cooperative Association plays an extremely broad role in the extracurricular life of the college. All students and faculty members belong to the Association. Generally speaking, almost all campus-wide activities outside of the instructional program are sponsored wholly or in part by the Association.

THE ACTIVITY FEE — is the chief source of income for the Association's activities. Upon payment of the fee, every student receives an annual "I" Card which will admit him free of charge to all University social, cultural, and athletic activities. This card is validated for the second semester. Full refund of the fee will be given to students withdrawing from the University within one month from the first day of classes. After the first month no refunds will be given. Other income for the Association comes from the Co-op Bookstore profits, athletics income, and income from all other events sponsored by the Association.

The annual "I" CARD serves as your identification while at Indiana. It serves to check books out of the university library, to cash checks at the Student Bank, to check out game equipment at the Student Union, and to admit you to all Association events.

BANKING SERVICES — The Student Bank is operated in the business office of the Student Union. Students receiving money from home and not wishing to take the risk of carrying it on their persons or leaving it in their rooms may deposit it in the bank and withdraw it as needed by the issuance of checks. University checks are good only on campus. To help defray the expense of operation, a nominal charge is made when an account is opened. Students are urged to use this service as a precaution against loss. The Bank is open 10:00 a.m. — 3:50 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 10:00 a.m. — 11:45 a.m., Saturday.

Students should close out their accounts in the Student Bank before the end of the spring term, unless they are continuing in school through the summer terms. Any accounts under $1.00, which are left in the bank at the end of the spring term will be automatically closed out and charged as service fees.

Organization Banking — The CENTRAL TREASURY serves the purpose of a bank for all campus organizations, making available on the University campus all services, necessary business papers, and standardized procedures for the administration of extracurricular finances. The office is under the supervision of the Cooperative Manager, who is directly responsible to the President.

Services of the Central Treasury include installation of accounting records, uniform continuation between business officers and their successors, systematic methods for handling money, and general assistance to organization officials in keeping their financial activities on a sound financial basis.

BOOKSTORE – The Co-op Bookstore is located in the Student Union Building. The store stocks a complete line of all needed textbooks, supplies, paperback books and other requirements needed for class use. In addition, the shopper will find an extensive selection of records, college wear, stationery, jewelry, sundries and souvenir items.

The store is operated on a competitive retail basis with all profits from operations reverting to the Student Cooperative Association for use in supporting student activities. Hours are 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. week-days and 8:00 until 12:00 noon on Saturday, with additional evening hours during the opening of each semester.

The Bookstore is a member of the National Association of College Book Stores through which many additional services such as student rate magazine subscriptions, etc., are available.

DAILY BULLETIN – Issued by the Public Relations Office every day that classes are held. Look for it on University bulletin boards to find news of importance to you.

Notices to be printed in the bulletin must be taken to room 312 Clark Hall no later than 11 a.m. the day before publication. Notices will be printed a maximum of two consecutive days upon request. They should be clear, concise, and of concern to a large portion of the student body, and they must have the signed approval of your organization advisor or sponsor.

FOOD SERVICES – Commuters may purchase meals at the Student Union coffee shop, at the Home Economics cafeteria in Ackerman Hall, at the cafeteria in Foster Hall, or at the other convenient restaurants around the campus.

HEALTH SERVICES – The UNIVERSITY INFIRMARY, located at 406 South 11th Street, behind Cogswell Hall, is for the use of all students free of charge, except for special medication and prescriptions. Regular hours are maintained, but there is a nurse available at all times in case of an emergency. The nurse should not be called to the student's room unless the seriousness of the illness makes a trip to the infirmary impossible. After the dormitories close for the night, women students should contact their Counselor, their Head Resident, or the Assistant Dean of Women, in case of illness.

House and dormitory students who are seriously ill may secure a bed in the infirmary free of charge for three days. For each additional day a charge of $1.00 is made. Off-campus students are charged $3.00 a day from the first day.

In case of absence or tardiness, the student will fill out an excuse blank and present it to the teacher for admission to class. The teacher will pass judgment on the merits of the excuse. The Infirmary is not responsible for providing excuse slips for students who have been absent from class; however, faculty who wish to call the Infirmary for confirmation on such absences are welcome to do so. Excuse blanks may be obtained in the department chairman's office.

So that a complete health record may be kept, all students are asked to stop at the infirmary before visiting a doctor or a dentist in town. Students who become ill at home should not return to school until they are well enough to attend classes. If a physician has been in attendance, the student should bring to the infirmary a statement of the diagnosis.

A maximum of two visitors may be permitted from 3:00 - 4:00 p.m., if granted permission by the nurse. Persons with contagious diseases are not permitted to have visitors.

MILITARY INFORMATION

Selective Service – Every man is required by law to register with the Selective Service within five days after his eighteenth birthday. I.U.P. students may report to the local Indiana Selective Service Board instead of returning to their home boards.

To qualify for an academic deferment 2-S, a student must be attending Indiana University at least two semesters per year, carrying fifteen hours or more per semester, and have a satisfactory grade record. If a student falls below fifteen hours by dropping a course, or if he is asked to withdraw from the university for academic or disciplinary reasons, he automatically loses his academic deferment within the week. Likewise, if he does not return to school and is not in residence during the year, he will lose his deferment.

Deferments are arranged through the Assistant Dean of Men's Office located in Gordon Hall. The SSS Form 109 is sent in to the local board on every student who has completed the Selective Service Card in the registration kit. Late entrants should do this by coming to Gordon Hall. If a student becomes eighteen after he has begun college, then it will be necessary for him to apply for an academic deferment in Gordon Hall as soon as he is classified.

Veteran's Information – Any student who is eligible for veteran's benefits should consult the Assistant Dean of Men in Gordon Hall. Veteran's Administration regulations require the Veteran's Counselor to report on the conduct and academic progress of each student entitled to benefits. Therefore, each veteran is responsible for his progress and any changes which he plans to make in his academic program while he is enrolled here.

All Veterans should present a photostatic copy of their discharge papers (DD214) to the Dean of their respective school to secure credit for health courses.

War Orphans – War Orphans should consult the Veteran's Counselor about possible eligibility under Public Law 634. More detailed information concerning V. A. requirements is available in the office of the Veteran's Counselor.

PLACEMENT SERVICE – The services of the Placement Office, located in Keith School, are available to all students of the University, undergraduate and graduate. The Office supplies credentials to employers who are seeking applicants for positions, arranges for interviews, and serves as a Center where graduates may keep their records up-to-date. The Office also receives and makes available to students lists of summer job opportunities. Students may gain information about current job openings by calling at the Placement Office.

TELEPHONE SERVICE – Switchboard service by the University telephone operators is available from 7:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. The switchboard will not furnish extension numbers for inter-dormitory phone calls, therefore, students should use the proper extension number listed on the directories available at telephone stands or in the University Directory.

Pay telephones are available in the Student Union building and in many locations in the dormitories.

FINANCIAL AID TO STUDENTS

Scholarships and Loans — The Scholarship and Loan program at Indiana University of Pennsylvania is directed by the Financial Aids' Office. Any student needing financial aid should file a financial aid application, which is available upon request in Room 314, third floor of Clark Hall. The University has several loan funds and a considerable number of scholarships available for needy students who maintain good academic records. A small brochure describing the available financial aid at Indiana University of Pennsylvania can be picked up in the Financial Aids' Office in Clark Hall. More complete information concerning financial aid is available in the University catalog.

All applicants for scholarships and loans must file a Parents' Confidential Statement with Princeton, New Jersey. These forms can be secured from your Guidance Counselor.

Small Loan Fund — Thirty-day loans not to exceed $20 are available to all students in cases of emergency. No interest is charged if paid within 30 days. These loans are available upon application to the Dean of Women or Dean of Men.

Student Employment — Students are employed on a part-time basis in a number of departments on the campus. Positions are filled on the basis of financial need and the special abilities required in certain jobs. Students are assigned to such jobs as: waiters in the dining hall, typists, office clerks, library assistants, relief switchboard operators, and janitors. Students in need of employment should file an application in the office of the Director of Financial Aids, Room 314, third floor of Clark Hall. Calls for student help occasionally come from townspeople. These opportunities for work are available to students who have filed applications. Except in cases of extreme necessity, freshmen should not seek employment during their first year but should plan to concentrate on their college work.

In order to be employed by the University, a student must maintain a "C" average.

UNIVERSITY LODGE — The University Lodge plays an important part in the recreational and instructional life of the University. Owned by students and faculty, this 100 acres of wooded hillside, with its rustic lodge, three picnic shelters, rope ski tow, toboggan run, and nature and hiking trails, not only offers opportunities for classes to study nature and conservation but also is in demand for picnics, meetings, and winter sports.

Any student or faculty member is welcome to use the Lodge property, but must be ready to identify himself by presenting an "I" card at the request of the caretaker.

The caretaker is held responsible for regulations for use of the Lodge property. Those using the property are responsible to him for its proper use.

During the winter sports season, ski equipment, sleds, and toboggans may be checked out for use.

Arrangements for use of the Lodge property by groups or classes must be made in the office of the Scheduling Officer, Mr. Seagren, Ext. 249, at least one day prior to use. A permit is issued and must be presented to the caretaker on arrival.

The following are eligible to use the Lodge:

- A. Any individual student or faculty member.
- B. Any student group with a faculty adviser.
- C. Any organized unit or group of alumni.
- D. Any organized faculty group, groups with faculty predominating, or faculty families.

Intramural Sports

A year-round intramural program is conducted for both men and women. At the start of each sports season, organized leagues are formed and schedules are planned. At the conclusion of the season, championship games are played between the top teams. Women's intramural sports include badminton, bowling, basketball, volleyball, and swimming. Men's activities are basketball, bowling, touch football, swimming, and golf.

For more information concerning the intramurals program, contact Miss Ruth Podbielski (women) at Waller Gym, or Dr. Louis Sutton (men) at the Memorial Fieldhouse.

Cheerleaders

Cheerleaders for the athletic competitions are divided into a junior varsity and a varsity group. Selections for the six junior varsity members will be made at the beginning of the first semester and selections for the eight varsity members will be made at the end of the second semester.

If you are interested in auditioning for one of the above positions, contact Miss Beverly Lucas, Waller Gym.

The Indiana Community

HISTORICAL FACTS ABOUT INDIANA COUNTY

A growing population and continued unrest on the Eastern Shores brought James LeTort, adventurer, trader and first white man to this untamed territory. Setting up business with the Indians as a trader, LeTort began the records. The year was 1727 and present day Shelocta was his home site.

James Davenport and Peter Shaver, two white men, busied themselves with the increased fur trade and message carrying duties to the Indians west of the Alleghenys from 1731-1744.

Newport, the first town, was laid out near the mouth of Blacklick creek on the Conemaugh between 1787 and 1790. All traces of the village are gone.

The oldest landmark in the County is "Shavers Spring" mentioned in early documents and named for Peter Shaver. The spring can be seen today in the Indiana Student Union Coffee Shop.

Two major Indian trails crossed the county: The Kittanning Path, or Armstrong Trail, crossing from east to west, and the Catawba Trail which extended in a northerly direction, from the Carolinas to council fires of the Six Indian Nations in New York state. The Armstrong Trail passed down present day Washington street, toward Shaver Spring. Catawba Trail passed by Catawba Trace, the Girl Scout day camp near Rustic Lodge.

Indiana County, Pennsylvania, was established by the Act of March 30, 1803, from parts of Westmoreland and Lycoming counties. Indiana, the county seat, was laid out on 250 acres of land donated for that purpose by George Clymer, Signer of the Declaration of Independence. The first town lots were sold in 1805, naming Philadelphia St. the main street of town in honor of Philadelphia, Pa., George Clymer's residence.

The first white settler to hold his claim within the county was George Findley, near Cramer. The first permanent settler was Fergus Moorhead who built his cabin, and later erected a fort, near Ben Franklin School, on Route 422 West.

Residents of the county were active in the Underground Railroad prior to the Civil War, assisting fugitive negro slaves who had escaped southern masters.

HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

The Historical & Genealogical Society of Indiana County, is located at the intersection of South 6th St. and Wayne Ave. Presently there is a library and museum maintained in Memorial Hall, and a reconstructed log house on the grounds. The society was organized 25 years ago to accumulate and preserve the history of Indiana County.

The society has histories of many Pennsylvania Counties available in printed form. This has proved to be an excellent source to many people in tracing their ancestors. The reading room also has newspaper files from 1879 to 1949.

The library and museum is open to the public from 1:30 to 4 P.M. and 6:30 to 9 P.M., Tuesdays and Thursdays from September to May, and Thursdays only during June, July and August. The log house is open 2 to 5 P.M., Saturday and Sunday from Memorial Day through Labor Day.

Guided tours may be arranged for groups by calling 465-4044.

The workshop is open on the second Saturday in August from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. where beginners receive instruction in doing family history.

The STUDENT RELIGIOUS ORGANIZATIONS are church sponsored student groups which aim to serve as a nucleus for the student witness of the various faiths and denominations. Four of these organizations, The Newman Center, Westminster Fellowship, Wesley Foundation, and Lutheran Center, maintain meeting facilities near the campus. Others affiliate with and meet in local churches. For those groups too small to arrange their own needs, the university undertakes to provide limited facilities and faculty advisement. The following organizations have an active program. They are listed with the name of the faculty sponsor, followed by the minister and his telephone number.

To this end The Lutheran Ministry offers a varied program of worship, study, fellowship, and service. Lutheran Campus Center, 875 School Street.

Located under the Episcopal Church Rectory on 9th Street, the GROTTA provides fellowship, entertainment, learning, and conversation for students. The performers include students. Student operated, the GROTTA is open Friday and Saturday nights from 7:30 until 11:30. Refreshments in the form of expresso, exotic teas, peanuts, potato sticks, and soft drinks are available.

The TRADEWINDS Coffee House, 875 School Street, is sponsored by the Lutheran Campus Ministry, and is open to the entire campus community. It seeks to engage students in dialogue with issues, ideas, and movements of contemporary and lasting importance. Art, drama, poetry, speakers, films, and folk music are the media used to treat a variety of subjects. Open Friday nights when the University is in session.

DRINKING & GAMBLING – There shall be no intoxicating beverages or gambling in university property, in university supervised houses or dormitories, or in fraternity houses. Students 21 years of age or over are not subject to the provisions of the ban on drinking providing they live in town and have prior permission from their landlords. Exceptions to this rule may be made in unusual circumstances by the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women. 2. You enter into your own rental arrangements with the landlord. Students must carry out any agreements made with the landlord, either verbally or in a lease. Students should have a complete understanding of the implications involved and the demands of the landlord before giving a damage deposit fee. We suggest you pay a reasonable deposit for your room and retain your receipt so you are sure to have a living accommodation in the fall.
3. You may change your place of living only at the end of a semester. During the semester you must receive permission from the Dean of Men.
4. You must always give the landlord two weeks notice prior to moving from a room or an apartment.
5. You must always see that the Dean of Men has your current address and phone number in town.
6. A failure of service or consideration on the part of the landlord should be reported to the Assistant Dean of Men.
7. Male students are not permitted to have female students in their living quarters except in accord with the revised student regulations of 1968. See Off-Campus Housing Regulations, page 48.
8. Students must adhere to the revised University regulations regarding alcoholic beverages in off-campus living quarters. Anyone under 21 years of age who consumes alcoholic beverages violates the law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
9. Students living off-campus have the responsibility of being good neighbors and conscientious members of the community. As such they must respect the rights of the families living in town. A mature student-citizen is a valuable asset to the University and the Community.

Policy Statement on Faculty Advisers To Student Organizations

ADVISORS — All student organizations which do not have full-time directors, including honorary and professional organizations, social fraternities and sororities, and student publications, must have faculty or alumni advisers at all times.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF ADVISERS — Advisers to student organizations should accept positions as advisers in good faith that the organization desires their counsel both on specialized areas in which they be experienced and/or expert and in general matters of good taste, conduct, and propriety. Advisers should make an effort to attend meetings of the organization and its executive bodies. Advisers should make themselves available to the organization for consultation as needed. The adviser should feel free to offer constructive criticism and guidance without domination. When an organization takes an action not in agreement with its general purpose or procedures, or when it plans a program of activity not approved by its adviser, the adviser should report such action to the Committee on Student Affairs and Athletics through its chairman.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF ORGANIZATIONS TO ADVISERS — Organizations should recognize that advisers are obligated to give counsel and advice on areas in which they may be experienced and/or expert and in general matters of good taste, conduct, and propriety. The organization should notify advisers of all meetings of the organization or of its executive bodies. Advisers are entitled to attend any or all of these meetings, and are entitled to consult with the officers or committee chairmen of the organizations at any time. Organizations should consult with advisers before any changes in policy, purpose, or major program are put into effect. Organizations are obligated to consider the advice of advisers and shall be responsible to the University for any action taken without the approval of the adviser or advisers.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF ORGANIZATIONS TO THE PUBLIC-AT-LARGE — Student organizations should recognize that they exist as part of a public, tax-supported institution. This implies a certain degree of responsibility and accountability to the public whose tax money supports the institution.

APPOINTMENT OF ADVISERS — When a student organization needs a new adviser, it shall have the privilege of approaching prospects and nominating suitable candidates to the Committee on Student Affairs and Athletics. This faculty-student committee shall review such nominations and make recommendations to the President of the University. All appointments to advisory positions to student organizations will be made by the President of the University.

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS — It is recognized that the role of faculty adviser to student publications is a particularly complex one. Censorship is wrong in principle and tends to stifle creative talent, ambition, and imagination. On the other hand, a student publication assumes a vulnerable role because it is read by a wide audience both within and without the University.

Every student publication must have an adviser or advisers whose guidance is sought, whose judgment is valued, and who is sincerely concerned about making each issue of the publication better than the past one.

Certain policies concerning student publications are recommended:

1. The faculty adviser or advisers have the obligation to advise, suggest, guide, and counsel. There should be no faculty or administrative censorship of the student publications at the University. Conflicts arising between advisers and student editors over matters of good taste may be reviewed by the Committee on Student Affairs and Athletics, if either the student editor or the adviser wishes the help of this committee. Decisions as to what is to be published shall be made by the student editor of each publication.
2. Student editors must realize that the freedom of editorial choice implies full responsibility for the content and authenticity of the contents of student publications.
3. The faculty advisers and the student editors are jointly responsible for seeing to it that publication costs remain within budgeted allocations. Thus, the financial responsibility of student publications is shared by student staffs and faculty advisers.
4. Poor taste in editorial selection is particularly difficult to handle because taste is a highly individual opinion. What may seem in good taste to a student editor may in fact offend many other students or faculty. Student editors need to be sensitive to this problem and should seek counsel when needed for their own guidance and direction. One guiding principle should not be minimized — student publications must be accountable to their readers.

The principles stated above are equally applicable to the Penn, the Oak, the Parchment Conch, and the Student Directory. However, the annual publication schedule of the Oak and the Indiana Student Writes places greater responsibility on their staffs for authenticity and accuracy, since errors of judgment cannot so readily be rectified.

DEPARTMENTAL AND CAMPUS ORGANIZATIONS

1. It is recommended that authority for programming and planning for campus organizations should be vested in an executive board composed of officers and advisers.
2. The executive board is responsible for filing with the Student Government Association a current statement of the organization's purposes, policies, and program.
3. All organizations should submit tentative program plans and a calendar of events by February 15 to the Student Government Association and the Dean of Women's Office.

CAMPUS RELIGIOUS ORGANIZATIONS

1. Religious foundations or organizations with full-time directors need not have a faculty adviser. However, if such an organization requests a faculty adviser, he shall be appointed by the President in the manner previously prescribed.
2. Faculty advisers to organizations with full-time directors, shall serve chiefly as a liaison representative for the religious organization to the college administration.

3. Religious organizations without full-time directors must have a faculty adviser or advisers.
4. The role of faculty adviser to a religious organization differs from that of other faculty advisers only in the fact that he has an obligation to the sponsoring religious organization as well as to the college program.

FRATERNITIES AND SORORITIES

1. At least one adviser should be present at all meetings of the fraternity so that contact and rapport can be steady and effective.
2. Advisers should be aware of the condition of the fraternity houses or sorority rooms and the activities of the organization.
3. Advisers should check to see that all bills of the organization are promptly paid.
4. Any serious difference of opinion between the fraternity and advisers should be referred to Interfraternity Council and/or to the Committee on Student Affairs and Athletics for review.

Academic Policies

ABSENCE AND TARDINESS – The university has no cut system of absenteeism. In case of absence or tardiness, the student will fill out an excuse blank and present it to the teacher for admission to the class. The professor will pass judgment on the merits of the excuse and handle the matter accordingly. Blanks will be available in all department offices. This plan puts the responsibility first upon the student, second upon the professor, and third upon the Deans of the Undergraduate Schools, who may in turn furnish the adviser and the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women with whatever information is necessary for a follow-up. Whenever a professor feels that any student has been absent or tardy to an extent that might endanger scholastic standing, the professor will report the fact promptly to the office of the Dean of the appropriate undergraduate school.

CHEATING AND PLAGIARISM – All staff members are requested to report instances of student cheating to the dean of the appropriate school. The dean, in turn, will record the matter in his own office, and see that it is recorded in the student's record file with the Dean of Men or Dean of Women. Staff members are requested to give first offenders an "F" in the course in which they have been found cheating.

A student who is caught cheating a second time, whether in the same course or another, or whether in the same semester or another, will be summarily dismissed from the University. Plagiarism is considered to be identical with cheating.

GRADES – The following grades are used in reporting the standing of students at the end of each semester and summer term: A, excellent; B, good; C, average; D, passed; F, failed; I, incomplete. The F can be cleared only by repeating the course in the regular way. The grade of I is used to record work which so far as covered is of passing grade, but is incomplete because of personal illness or other unavoidable reason. It must be made up within two months after the student returns to the university.

QUALITY POINTS – Quality points are assigned as follows: Grade

A, 4 quality points (QP's) per semester hour; B, 3 QP's; C, 2 QP's; D, 1 QP; and F, no QP's. To qualify for graduation, a student must have earned twice as many quality points as the number of semester hours he has earned in this university toward his degree. Quality points are not counted on grades from other schools and a student transferring from another school is held responsible for quality points only on work taken in this university.

ADVISORY SYSTEM — The purpose of the advisory system is to assist the student in his orientation to university life. Each student is assigned to a faculty advisor who confers with him regarding his program, activities, academic work, the evaluation of his progress and his education in values. At mid-semester professors make reports of unsatisfactory work to the student's advisor. The advisor then consults with the student reported with the thought of assisting him to improve his standing by the end of the semester. This report, however, does not become part of the student's permanent record.

GRADE REPORTS — Shortly after the end of each semester or summer session a full report is given or mailed to every student.

CRITERIA GOVERNING CONTINUANCE IN THE UNIVERSITY — The following policy will apply to students who begin their college studies in September 1968: Freshmen will be required to attain a quality point average of 1.6; Sophomores a quality point average of 2.0. These students will be given until the close of the main summer session following their academic year to attain these averages. Juniors and Seniors will likewise be given until the close of the main summer session to attain a quality point average of 2.0. Grade point averages will be computed by the total credits attempted including those for repeat courses. According to this new system the sum of all course credits including repeats will be divided into the total quality points to calculate the grade point ratio. However, this method of computation will not apply retroactively to student averages compiled before September 1, 1968, except for Summer School 1968 "ABC" students.

GOOD ACADEMIC STANDING — signifies that the student has maintained a cumulative average of a C or 2.0 on all work completed in this university. Acceptable academic standing signifies that the student in his freshman or sophomore year has met the required critical average of 1.6, or 2.0 to continue in school even though he may have done probationary work during the semester.

FULL-TIME STUDENT — is one who is carrying a minimum of 12 semester hours during a regular semester or during the full 12 weeks of Summer Sessions.

CLASSIFICATION OF STUDENTS — Students are placed in one of four classes according to progress towards graduation. A freshman has less than 30 semester hours and 62 quality points. A sophomore has at least 30 semester hours and 62 quality points but has not attained junior standing. (Transfers having 30 or more semester hours are classified as sophomores for one semester.) A junior has applied for junior standing and has been approved. (See Junior Standing, below.) A senior has been approved for junior standing and has earned 96 or more semester hours.

JUNIOR STANDING — The main purpose of junior standing is to screen the student at the close of his sophomore year to assure him that success in a university is evident; and that the university intends to recommend him for a position if he maintains his progress at the same level. Formal admission to junior standing is a requisite for continuing the program in the university.

A student who is enrolled in the fourth semester of university work or who will have at least 57 semester hours at the end of the current semester must apply for junior standing during the current semester.

This application should be filled out completely by the student and his advisor and turned in to the office of the Dean of his School on or before the deadline set for the current semester. Each application is taken under advisement for approval or rejection by the Committee of Academic Standards within that school. Students must meet the following requirements to obtain approval for junior standing:

1. The scholastic average must be 2.0 or better for the first two years of work taken by the student, with a minimum of 57 semester hours, and the student must continue in good standing.

2. A passing grade must be attained in English I and II. Students who transfer English credits to Indiana and are given credit for English II must attain at least a C grade in English I. If less than a C is earned, it will be necessary for the student to take English II.

3. An adequate level of achievement as measured by the sophomore examinations in reading, mathematics, writing, social studies, and science will be required. A student who fails any one of the exams will repeat the test or tests the next semester or summer session he is in college. Some students may be advised to take additional courses in the areas where test scores are inadequate.

4. For the School of Education the voice must be free from objectionable qualities. Students who have failed to pass a speech test are required to take corrective treatment in the Speech Clinic until the deficiencies have been overcome. Irremediable cases are given special consideration by the committee.

5. The student should manifest academic and social maturity, professional zeal, and social consciousness. Additionally, he should have proved himself to be dependable, cooperative, and to possess high principles and good moral character. Preferably, he should participate in some extra-curricular activities.

6. The student must have the endorsement of his department. A student who fails to receive the endorsement of his department should remedy his standing with the department or change his major field.

Students who fail to meet the above requirements will be given one semester or summer session to make them up. Students who fail to clear their deficiencies at the time of the second application will be dismissed from the university.

After the first application for Junior Standing, only one department change will be permitted. If the student, after his first application, changes his department it is his responsibility to see that his new department has every opportunity to evaluate him as a candidate for a degree in that field.

Credentials will be examined by the Committee on Academic Standards and decisions will be reached on the basis of all evidence available.
